Training and Compliance Services

Customized Training Programs

Training is the first and most important step in offering any hazardous material shipment into transportation legally and correctly. Our trainers have years of experience in teaching classes as well as in the field.

While most classes given by competitors are generic, DGM New York takes into consideration the attendees' specific needs in their work place. We provide custom tailored training programs for each customer to ensure that the training meets federal (CFR49) and industry standards (IATA/ICAO and IMDG code). We also ensure that your employees learn the skills required for them to carry out their functions efficiently and accurately. This includes all elements, from documenting hazardous materials, to handling, storage and transportation packaging requirements.

Compliance Audits and Guidance

In addition to on-site compliance guidance, we can formulate compliance manuals specific to your company's operations. With our consolidated manuals, any employee will be able to reference the applicable regulations, instead of sifting through thousands of pages of regulations. With our help, we can streamline your company's procedures to minimize costs and maximize profits.

Online Training

If your schedule doesn't allow for in-class training, we have created the ultimate online training classroom. Visit our website at www.DGSpecialists.com and look for the training portal link on our home page to explore our various training courses.

Benefits of online training:

Accessible 24 hours/day, 365 days/year via any computer with internet access

No travel required and learning at trainees own pace

Affordable up to date training with content for all hazmat employees

Classes include, but not limited to: TDG, CFR49, ICAO/IATA, Biological, IMDG code, Dry ice, lithium batteries, recurrent and initial training and MUCH MORE!
